

Application Specialist in Oulunsalo

We are looking for an Application Specialist to join our team in Oulunsalo

Are you interested in working on the product development of high-tech liquid handling equipment? Liquid dispensing devices are either part of the automation assembly lines we manufacture for rapid test companies or individual devices for dispensing various liquids.

We are looking for an Application Specialist to join our Oulunsalo R&D team. Your tasks include the development and testing of our liquid dispensing devices and deploying them in customer projects.

You may have already worked on similar tasks or may have just graduated. You have the motivation and desire to develop yourself into a true expert in liquid dispensing device commercial operation.

We expect from you:

- An appropriate degree, e.g., laboratory analyst or biochemist
- Initiative and independent approach to work
- Teamwork skills
- Customer service spirit
- Fluent English
- Willingness to travel

We also appreciate:

- Programming skills
- Problem-solving ability
- A positive attitude towards work

We offer you versatile and challenging tasks in automation technology in a friendly and flexible work community.

If you are interested in this position, please send your application, CV, and salary expectation to recruitment@ginolis.com by October 16, 2020.
